LONDON, Sept. 9.—Granted a temporary daylight respite from crippling German air raids, London attempted today to dig itself out of the debris of last night's violent attack which cost an estimated 300 lives and irreparable damage to the heart of the capital.

The estimated casualty list in last night's raids brought to at least 600 dead and 2,500 wounded the total of the last 48 hours.

The extra-heavy "super-bombs" dropped by the largest aerial "battleships"
in the Reich's air force pounded at the heart of the city for more than nine and a half hours, leaving smoking, smouldering ruins in theatre, night club and business office districts as well as poor residential sectors.

Republican Leaders Foresee Large Gain In Congress At Election

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Political leaders today are considering the possibility that the American elec-check on the next President of the United States.

The voters may return President Roosevelt to the White House for a third term, but elect a Republi-

On the other hand, if Wendell Wiltorate will certainly retain a Demo-

HOUSE DEMANDS SIXTY DAYS DELAY

Age Limits For Conscrip-

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—
Senate leaders today mapped plans for a fight on the 21-44, inclusive, age limit in the house conscription bill and the Fish amendment requiring service for volunteers before the draft is made effective.

The measure, which passed the house by a vote of 263 to 149 Saturday night after a five-day battle, now goes to conference for agreement upon differences between senate and house bills.

Both Sen. Barkley, Kentucky,
Democratic leader, and Sen. Austin, Vermont, acting Republican leader, predicted that the senate would insist upon retaining the senate age draft limit of 21-30, inclusive.

Administration leaders were bitterly opposed to the Fish amendment, adopted by the house by a vote of 207 to 200, which requires the president to seek 400,000 volunteers, immediately and prohibits draft of men for a 60-day period.

Expect Delay To Remain

This amendment, originally sponsored by Sen. Hayden (D) Arizona, was defeated by only two votes when it was first proposed in the senate, however, and it was possible that all administration efforts to knock it out of the bill might be rejected.

The other major amendment in disagreement is the number of draftees. The house limit is 1,000, 000 while the senate limit is 900,000.
"I am sure that we can quickly reach an agreement and enact the bill into law," said Chairman May (D) Kentucky of the house military affairs committee. "We cannot afford to delay."

President Roosevelt, who indirectly played house delay in enactment of the bill, is expected to take a hand if a deadlock develops in conference.

Wants 21-44 Limit

The war department, Chairman
May said, wants the house age limits of 21 to 44, inclusive. Army officials, however, indicated that only a small percentage of men above the age of 30 would be called for the one year's training provided.

Nazis Threaten Greater Air Raids On London

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Tenfold intensification of the already gigantic German air raids on London was threatened by the Nazi high command today as official announcements claimed crippling damage to docks, piers and other military objectives in the British capital.

The present onslaughts were characterized as merely a "prelude" in the form of retaliation for allegedly indiscriminate British attacks on civilian areas of Germany.

Threaten Heavier Raids

New British attacks on Hamburg during the night led inspired quarters to renew their charges that the R. A. F. is continuing to bomb without aim or plan and with no consideration for legitimate military targets.

"As a result," a spokesman said,
"it may be assumed that even heavier German night attacks will thunder over London."

The new Nazi night raid tactics call for raids by the Reich's main bombing units, preceded by fast fighting planes to drop flares and light the way to chosen objectives.
This strategy enables the German bombers to pick out their targets without delay.

Describing the attacks of last night, spokesmen said that important objectives were heavily damaged and fires started from one end of the city to the other.

Damaged Areas Of London Are Toured By King George; Consoles His People In City

George toured the damaged area

And when it was over, he turned

"Everyone has been wonderfully brave."

The king's special escort was the

Tumultuous Reception

At every stop he was accorded a tumultuous reception. He watched air raid precaution workers still fighting fires and searching for bodies, went into a shelter where homeless were being temporarily cared for and talked to women and children—many of them draped in bandages.

The king obviously felt keenly the tragedy particularly when he talked to women whose children or husbands had been killed.

King George spent considerable time in one of the hardest-hit districts in the east end. He climbed up a huge pile of debris to look down into London's biggest crater—a gaping maw 75 feet wide and 50 feet deep.

Begrimed A R P men still there that he looked across the crater to a row of backless houses whose cheap furniture and personal effects were spewed out into the road.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—With 600 already counted dead and 2,500 injured in two days of incessant raids, German planes renewed their onslaught against the London area this evening.

A few minutes after the air raid sirens sounded at 5:10 p. m., sending London's millions to shelter for the third night in a row, bombs began dropping in the London area.

Two separate formations of planes passed over the city at a tremendous altitude.

Their identity could not be ascertained, but the fact bombs started dropping almost immediately confirmed that once again Nazi Germany's gigantic raiders had broken through the capital's defenses with their loads of "super-bombs."

Buildings Shake

The heavy bombs again shook buildings in the center of the city, bringing new terror to areas hit or devastated during the terrific attacks of Saturday and Sunday.

Considerable anti-aircraft fire was heard and within half an hour of the air raid sirens, British fighters were engaging the attackers high overhead.

The raiders appeared to be concentrating an extremely heavy attack upon one particular sector, where little damage had been done
last night.

Political Eyes Focused On Maine

State Election Being Held Today

Nation Awaits Result As Protent Of Possible Outcome In November

BOTH PARTIES MAKE STIRRING CAMPAIGN

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Political eyes of the nation were focused on Maine today as voters went to the polls to choose a U. S. senator, governor and other state and federal representatives in the nation's first major prelude to the forthcoming presidential election.

Although the long-standing adage that "as Maine goes, so goes the nation" was broken in 1936 when Maine and Vermont were the only two states to vote Republican, leaders of both parties sought signs and portents for November in today's balloting.

Message of Protest

Republican orators in their final appeals called on Maine voters to make the election result a message of protest against President Roosevelt's third-term attempt and a harbinger of victory for Wendell L. Willkie. The Democratic speakers, led by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt and U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, who made speeches in the state, urged a Democratic victory as a vote of confidence in Mr. Roosevelt.

The chief battle was fought for the U. S. senate seat of Frederick Hale, who is retiring, with former Governor Louis J. Brann the choice of the Democrats and Rep. Ralph O. Brewster, also a former governor, the nominee of the Republicans.

Maine's message to the nation may have a profound effect in starting Wendell Willkie on his triumphant tour. Brewster declared in his concluding campaign address last night.

The candidates for governor were Sumner Sewall, Republican, of Bath, president of the state senate, and Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, of Portland, a newspaper publisher.

war department a reservoir of 24,000,000 men from which to pick 1,000,000—doubling the number under the senate proposal.

War department officials, Chairman May said, regard the Pish amendment as a blow to the bill. Under its terms the president would seek 400,000 volunteers as soon as the bill becomes law. As he has not obtained 400,000 in 60 days, he can draft enough men to make up the difference. Another call for 400,000 volunteers is to be issued January 1 under the same conditions.

Unsuccessful Effort

House leaders, it was learned, made their unsuccessful attempt to dislodge the amendment from the bill after consultation with Mr. Roosevelt.

The war department, officials said, is ready to put draft machinery in motion as soon as the bill actually becomes law. Rep. Wadsworth (R., New York), co-author of the bill, assured the house that first draftees would not be called until from Nov. 7-10. This would be just after election.

Under terms of both bills the president would name local draft boards before whom males between the age limits would register.

Specific exemption is provided for federal and state officials, ministers and divinity students, college students of the present year are given deferment until the end of the year, and provision is made for exemption of conscientious objectors.

Greatest Problem

One of the greatest problems under the draft will be exemptions because of dependents or necessary employment in industry or agriculture. Under terms of the Burke-Wadsworth bill the president is authorized to defer training and service. Presumably most married men will be exempt, but this question has not been settled, officials said.

The president is authorized to name local draft boards, consisting of three civilians each, upon recommendation of governors. An effort by Republicans in the house to require that the boards be bipartisan was defeated. The president also is empowered to set up appeal boards.

Little controversy was expected between senate and house over the draft-industry proposals of both bills.

The senate adopted the drastic Overton-Russell amendment which gave the president power to seize industries and take complete ownership if they fail to cooperate in the defense program.

Modifying this proposal, the house approved the Smith amendment, which permits seizure of plants during the five-year life of the draft law, but the plants would be returned to the owner when the government had completed the arms program. Rent would be paid.

Sen. Russell (D., Georgia), co-author of the senate amendment, said that he is satisfied with the Smith substitute.

REPUBLICANS SEE LARGE GAINS IN CONGRESS ELECTION

on a bi-partisan aspect since the party in power had to have the support of the opposite party in order to function.

New Dealers, however, see no need for bi-partisan government in the next four years. They insist the President will be re-elected, along with another Democratic House.

The Republicans meanwhile assert the House will be Republican, whatever happens in the Presidential election. G. O. P. National Chairman and House Leader Joseph W. Martin says:

Sees Big G. O. P. Gain

"I believe the Republicans will gain in excess of 60 seats at the very minimum. If the present trend continues as it is going now, we will pick up between 75 and 80 seats. In any event, the next House will be Republican."

The Republicans must gain 49 seats to win control of the House. In the 1938 election the outcome was 262 Democrats, 169 Republicans and four scattered. A majority is 218. In 1938 the Republicans gained 31 seats over their 1936 showing, but that was the off-year in which the President was not at stake.

The Republican claims are denied, of course, by Democratic chieftains. Democratic House Leader Sam Rayburn says:

"Our poll shows the next House will be safely Democratic."

To this Democratic Whip Pat Boland adds:

"There isn't any doubt about it. The House will be Democratic by at least the same majority we have now and there are possibilities we will win back many of the seats lost in 1938."

No matter which party wins the House, the next Senate will be Democratic. There are 35 Senate seats at stake in November and the "holdover" Senate lines up: 45 Democrats, 14 Republicans and one independent (one vacancy in Minnesota). Therefore, the Democrats need win only four of the 35 contested to retain control of the Senate. The Republicans concede Democratic victories in Florida, Mississippi, Virginia and Texas, hence concede Democratic control.

So the possibility exists that in the next two years a Republican House will check on a Democratic President or a Democratic Senate will check on a Republican President.

said that concussion of the exploding bombs blew in doorways as missiles of extremely heavy calibre struck.

"Hit And Run"

The attack was a typical "hit and run" episode. It was all over in a few minutes, with the bombers last seen in swift flight with R. A. F. planes in hot pursuit. There was no guarantee, however, that they would not return shortly.

The raiders came from an unusual direction out of the setting sun and succeeded in plastering one area before R. A. F. fighters, swinging into the fray at a terrific clip, caught the attackers and engaged them in battle.

The "all clear" came at 6:27 p. m. 1 hour and 17 minutes after the warning had sounded.

Thus in contradistinction to the raids of Saturday and Sunday night, Londoners were given an early evening respite instead of being compelled to remain in the shelters for nine or ten hours at a stretch.

she had been stripped, gagged and criminally assaulted, according to police.

Millinder, married and the father of one child, was apprehended by State Motor Police who alleged he "confessed" the crime. The victim of the tragedy was a first cousin of the accused man's wife.

The youth, however, is prepared to deny any connection with the slaying according to Lewis O. Henry, young defense attorney conducting his first murder case. The Commonwealth will ask for the death penalty.

Millinder, who lived near Miss Gates in Mt. Eagle, was arrested June 13 by state police after checking the movements of many residents in the vicinity of Spook Hollow. Detectives asserted they found a discrepancy of five minutes in Millinder's account of his movements the night of the murder.

GEORGE LOUDON IS WED IN CANAL ZONE

A pretty wedding, marked with simplicity, was solemnized at 5:15 Friday evening, August 30, in the beautiful East lodge room of Sojourners Lodge F and A M., Cristobal, Canal Zone, when Miss Marie Theresa Helstedt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars M. Helstedt, of Bergen, North Dakota, became the bride of Staff Sergeant George Loudon, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Loudon, Jr., of Lathrop street, this city.

Mrs. Bessie Baumach was her only attendant and was attired in cream lace with a blue hydrangea corsage completing her ensemble.

Fred Baumach served the groom as best man, and ushers included George A. Fox and Harvey A. Lee. Appropriate wedding music for the occasion was provided by Gaylord S. Briggs, organist of Sojourners Lodge.

Following the ceremony a reception was served in the banquet hall of the Temple with Miss Jessica Keating as hostess.

The bride is a graduate of Bergen Special high school, State Normal school of Minot, N. D., and Trinity Hospital School of Nursing, and for the past three years has been employed by the United States government on the nursing staff of a colon hospital.

The groom, who has been in the Army Air Corps for the past thirteen years, attended the New Castle Senior high school.

MISS RILEY HONORED AT ALIQUIPPA PARTY

Honoring Miss Jeanne Riley of Adams street, bride-elect of Robert Lennig of East Washington street, a lovely party was given Saturday evening in the Reginald Lamb suburban residence, located at 2414 West Irwin street, Aliquippa, Pa., when they received a host of relatives and friends, for a shower event.

At an early hour a caravan of cars left New Castle for the hosts' home, where they met another group, already assembled, totaling upwards of 30. Informal pastimes filled in the early hours, and a "get acquainted" period with topics of conversation centering on the wedding plans, kept the time well occupied.

In a unique fashion, the bride-to-be was presented with an array of attractively wrapped packages, and when opened, revealed many handsome and serviceable miscellaneous gifts for use in her future home. Lunch was a later pleasure, a tempting menu being served buffet style, with the nuptial motif predominating in the appointments throughout. Aiding Mrs. Lamb with this feature were Mrs. C. Good, Mrs. Charles Bricker, Mrs. Doris Maxwell and Mrs. William Lennig.

The wedding ceremony will take place in St. Andrew's church on Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock with the Rev. Charles Burton, rector, officiating.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LET TEACHER DO IT
INTELLIGENT parents are eager to do something at home to prepare the child before he enters school to get on well with books after he begins school.

About the most important thing his parents can do for him is to cultivate good, healthy habits in him, good routines, self-reliance and responsibility and skill at being happy with other children of his age.

Yet some parents think they must do more. A few, alas, will try to teach him to read, spell and do number work. I wish they wouldn't. All too soon he will have such formal teaching at school. We should remember, too, that his eyes are poorly coordinated. Why tax his tender nerves so early?

His parents should, however, if without undue stimulation, help him widen and enrich his experiences and keep alive his curiosity. They should answer all his questions and encourage him in free conversation and creative play. Also they should read and read to him, expose him to good music, and enjoy with him the beauties of Nature.

Learning At Play
If at play he learns some or all the letters of the alphabet and number symbols with their meaning up to ten, very well. If he likes to draw just for fun, he might even profit from printing very large a few of the letters and number symbols. Unfortunately, however, some parents will set the little tyke to do such things as tasks and to tax him with the making of small letters and figures. If he makes them at all before going to school, let it be for fun and let them be several inches in dimension. In case there is a typewriter in the home he might profit from making a few letters or figures at a sitting with it.

The danger, of course, is that the ambitious parents will urge, even coerce, the little child and lose sight of his welfare to show him off. Then there are proud relatives to brag about him.

The wise, calm, gentle parent may properly help the tot before he enters school to gain number concepts at play, even to match some of the smaller digit symbols with meaning. One good way for him to learn simple number meaning is to amuse himself in his own way to help him grow familiar with the number and relative order of the number symbols up to nine inclusive is to play Flinch with him. I consider this a very valuable game for the child from four to eight or ten.

Really Don't Know
Parents who will study the tot of four or five will discover that his knowledge of the meaning of numbers is narrower than most suppose and that often the child in the first, second or third grade has vague concepts of numbers over five or six.

"Letting little children learn" is one of a series of 15 pamphlets I have written about the baby and young child, being simple presentation of university lectures I used to give to pre-school parents. A folder about the pamphlets may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it; also a selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NEED MATHEMATICS.

In preparing for national defense, it is easily understood that we need a great many war planes, but we need more than anything else war pilots. There is some criticism being expressed concerning the requirements that the Government Air Corps made for those seeking to become pilots, but there is a reason—a very important reason, for like a great transport pilot, particularly those who fly the ocean crossing cruisers, a pilot must be a navigator, requiring a knowledge of mathematics extending into trigonometry.

It is impossible to pilot a bombing plane without being a navigator. Of course, there are many other things that a war pilot should know. Besides being a real transport pilot, he must know all about guns and the use of such guns as are made a part of the war plane, and in the dropping of bombs, he must know all about the instrument used by which bombs are accurately dropped upon this or that object.

Speaking of navigation and trigonometry, there is a story told by Alan Mowbray about two Royal Air Force boys down in Africa, who were not versed in navigation as they should be. They beguiled a dull hour by working out the position of their ship. Finally, the pilot with a lead pencil said:

"Well, Bill, if my reckoning is correct, I ought to take off our hats."

"Because my calculation says we're in St. Paul's Cathedral."

"My children are growing up and I find my domestic duties slackening. Can you suggest any means by which I can escape the kind of loneliness that makes so many middle-aged women, embittered, and meddlesome in the affairs of their children?"

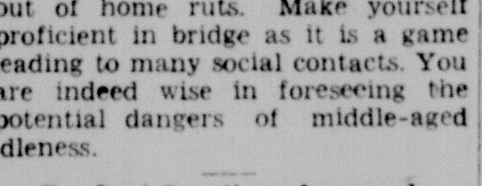

My answer: Cling to your old friends and make as many new ones as you possibly can. Join clubs and become as active in them as possible assuming duties that will excite your interest and occupy your mind. During this period of world upheaval, there are innumerable charitable and relief organizations that will welcome your services at their headquarters and will appportion to you home work that will keep you busy. But I advise that as far as possible you assume duties that will take you out of home rules. Make yourself proficient in bridge as it is a game leading to many social contacts. Readers' Questions Answered Question: I have been invited to a progressive dinner. I have no idea what that is. Please enlighten me.—Dottie.

Answer: This is a dinner given by several hostesses, each course being served at a different house. Usually there are no more than five courses. The first hostess, at an appointed hour, serves either a fruit cocktail or hors d'oeuvres. Hostess No. 2 serves soup or bouillon. The main course is served at the third house; a salad by the fourth hostess and dessert and coffee at the fifth house. If there is another woman wishing to contribute her share, she may invite the guests to her house for dancing and perhaps a late supper.

If preferred, there may be fewer courses and therefore fewer houses to visit. The guests should go from house to house in automobiles or taxicabs.

There is another type of "progressive dinner" in which the partners change places between courses. At each new course, each man should take the chair of the man at his right or left, according to the general order prescribed by the hostess.

These dinners are very popular among the younger set, especially sororities and other girls' clubs that enjoy complete informality.

McNary And Wallace Air Their Views
Vice Presidential Candidates Discussed
McNary Held Most Practical As Farmer

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON Sept. 9.—Politicians are still comparing Senator Charles L. McNary's and retired Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace's respective Republican and Democratic vice presidential acceptance speeches.

They were interesting talks to check against one another because each of the pair was nominated largely on account of his expected appeal to the country's farmers. It's an oddity too that McNary is a Republican running on the G. O. P. ticket with a presidential candidate who was a Democrat until quite recently, whereas Wallace, a Republican until not so long ago, is teamed with a lifelong Democrat.

McNary has a background as perhaps the more practical soil tiller of the two. Wallace, maybe, is his superior as a scientific agriculturist. Aside from his farm experience, McNary's a lawyer. Wallace is an editor—of a farm paper.

Protecting The Farmer
The tariff protection question enters into the discussion.

Republicanism traditionally is committed to a policy of high import taxes, to keep foreign products from getting overly into the United States in competition with our domestic stuff. For a long time, at least, it worked pretty well as to our manufactured goods, because our manufacturers could control their output, thus preventing a domestic glut, calculated to slump their prices. But our crop growth wasn't so controllable. Our crops did pile up on our hands and did slump our farmers' prices. From their standpoint protection was worse than ineffective; it made them pay stiff rates for whatever they had to buy, while they had to take what they could get for their surplus. They needed export markets and protection restricted them.

Senator McNary saw this. So did former Representative Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, As Republicans, they still believe in protection. Yet McNary, as a farmer, and Haugen, as an agricultural implement man, recognized that the farmers needed something equivalent to protection.

Accordingly they combined on the McNary-Haugen bill, much discussed in congress and throughout the nation 15 years or so ago. Without entering into complicated details, the plan's purpose was to fix two scales of farm prices—a satisfactory one for domestic market and the best figure available in foreign markets. The McNary-Haugen bill passed congress but was vetoed by President Coolidge as impractical. Later it passed again and was vetoed by President Hoover similarly.

The vetoes, be it noted, were by Republican presidents; not Democrats.

In his acceptance speech, Senator McNary still preached McNary-Haugenism.

Policy Of Security?
The New Deal hit on an alternative scheme. Presumably Candidate Wallace, as a New Deal convert and on the strength of his agricultural program in the Roosevelt cabinet, believes in it.

Possibly it isn't wholly correct to speak of it as strictly a New Deal scheme. State Secretary Hull is more or less involved in it. Secretary Hull (I've interviewed him dozens of times, as a representative, a senator and a cabinet member) is a free trader. He hasn't declared for free trade unqualifiedly, but his reciprocal trade agreements with foreign countries are a long step toward it. Parenthetically I think he ought

ARAB CODE
I like the old Arabian code which sets three rules for stories told. Requiring you pass them on, you test them at these gates of gold:

First: "Is it true?" a moment pause and then consider ere you speak.

Have you full proof of such a tale? Such proof as judge and jury seek?

Next: "Is it useful?" Where's the good in passing such a tale along?

Granted that every word is true, whom will it benefit or wrong? Why should such tawdry gossip live? Why give it to a doubtful friend?

And if it be not scotched at once, how can we know where it will end?

These two considerations faced, the Arab says to keep in mind. The third and most important point of any gossip: "Is it kind?"

And if this last gate closed appears, share no one's mean or cruel plot.

Toss on the rubbish heap the tale. Make sure that you repeat it not!

Thus spake some Arab sage of old, a thousand years or more ago. And still his warning finger wags, reminding us what we should know.

First: "Is the bit of gossip true?" Next: "Is it useful?" do we find?

And third before we pass it on, have we made sure that it is kind?

Disquieting Situation
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.

IN launching so huge a defense program as now engages this Government, a certain amount of confusion is inevitable and unavoidable. But it ought not to be so great as to bewilder those upon whom large responsibility is thrown and render orderly and logical effort impossible. Nevertheless, it is that great, and the reason seems to be that there is no well-conceived, carefully considered plan of procedure.

INSTEAD, the experience of the past is not being used with intelligence; nor is adequate thought being given to a clearly visible future. The whole business is being rushed in a high-speed, high-pressure, heedless, head-long way, without steady direction by one dominant mind concerned only with getting results, and knowing how to get them. There is progress, to be sure. Certain things are being done—and done well—but there is not the kind of progress these should be, and soon or late it will be surprising if some one of the men brought here from the outside does not arise and say so.

THE necessity for one individual who really can—and will coordinate the whole defense effort has been vainly urged upon the President from the start. He has made it plain that he intends to be the one big central figure in this business. Rather than delegate power to another, he is attempting the coordinating himself, though it is quite obvious that his other Presidential duties, to say nothing of his third-term candidacy, make it impossible for him to give either the time or the kind of concentration for which coordination and direction of the defense program calls.

ONE result is that time is being wasted and effectiveness diminished. A further result is that friction exists between some of the President's New Deal aides and some of the industrialists whom he has drafted. The former feel resentful at the importance being given the latter and insist there is enough ability among the New Dealers to do this job without bringing in men unsympathetic both to the New Deal philosophy and the third-term candidacy. It is fair to say that Mr. Roosevelt has in no way encouraged this idea and, except that he will not delegate the power without which they cannot function, is supporting the industrialists.

THIS, however, does not prevent a campaign of disparagement from being waged by the resentful aides, evidence of which is to be found in the left-wing weeklies and comments of other journalistic reflectors of the "advanced thinkers." Injurious, too, is the suspicion that politics is getting into the defense program. The third-term candidacy naturally makes these suspicions inevitable, but certainly they are promoted by such incidents as the disclosure that Mr. "Chip" Robert, Secretary of the Democratic National Committee and one of the third-term drafters, has received very large fees from contracts for defense work.

THAT creates a bad smell and makes the nonpartisan atmosphere which should envelop the defense effort, and which Mr. Roosevelt attempted to establish, difficult to maintain. But the Robert incident is not important and the refusal of the President to utilize—or even make public—the industrial mobilization.

zation plan is important. This is not, as he has said, an "old" plan; it is not only a new plan but it is the only plan there is. As General Johnson pointed out, this plan is the result of years of work and study in the Army War College, the Army Industrial College and the General Staff. It is the plan to which Mr. B. M. to have been presidentially nominated. The fact remains that our farmers do need higher prices—for what they've got to sell; not for what they've got to buy. Accordingly the New Deal's notion as put into effect and boosted for now by Henry Wallace, is governmentally to subsidize the farmers into not producing more than they can get food prices for. Senator McNary calls this "a policy of scarcity." His point is, "The less you've got (according to the New Deal) the more you've got! Is that logical?"

That also is arguable. That's the nub of the agricultural debate between Charlie McNary and Henry Wallace. McNary (not so much Wallace) said some other things likewise that are open to discussion, but you can't cover everything in one chapter. More hereafter.

Foreigners Can Ignore Conquests Of Germany In Alien Registration

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Formal directions were issued by the alien registration division today permitting foreigners to ignore conquests of Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan in stating their nativity.

The orders were sent out by alien registration administrator Earl C. Harrison, after hundreds of Poles, Czechs and others wrote letters expressing fear that they must register as subjects of Germany or some other conquering government.

Harrison, also notified German-Jew refugees from the Nazi regime that they need not attach the prefix "Israel" or "Sarah" before their given and surnames as they were required to do before leaving Germany. Answering an inquiry on this subject from the New York State Employment Service, 259 West 14th street, New York City, Harrison wrote:

"There is no reason why we should recognize a Nazi badge of racial indignity in registering. They will give their own names, and not any names forced on them."

Even Koreans need not mention Japanese conquest of their land, Harrison ruled. He wrote soon Kyo Hahn, treasurer of the Korean student federation of North American in Chicago, that the alien registration law recognized Koreans as distinctively different from the Japanese.

Poles may register as Polish, Danes as from Denmark, Belgians from Belgium, Netherlands from the Netherlands, Ethiopians from Ethiopia, and French natives from France, without mention of any conquering government. Harrison's directions notified all registration stations.

On the other hand, Harrison advised the registration units that his ruling was permissive, and if the foreigner desires to do so, he may give his citizenship as that of a nation which has taken over his native land. There is nothing compulsory either way, he explained.

The ruling was issued after a number of Poles in Brooklyn complained that in answering the question of their citizenship they had been in some instances instructed to insert Russia or Germany, and Czechs in Chicago made the same complaint.

At the same time Harrison disclosed that he had filed a complaint with one city bar association that an attorney there had intimidated in an interview published in a newspaper that aliens needed legal advice before registering under the new alien registration law.

Except for these problems, solved by the Harrison order, alien registration officials reported today that the big job of cataloging foreigners in America was moving along smoothly. They said there had been little crowding and that no opposition to the registration and fingerprinting procedure had been registered.

EXTRA DISTANCE IN HIS DRIVES—EXTRAS IN HIS CIGARETTE

YES, LARRUPING LAWSON LITTLE, NATIONAL OPEN CHAMPION, PREFERS THE CIGARETTE THAT GIVES THE "EXTRAS"—SLOWER-BURNING CAMELS

● WATCH OUT, PAR—here comes Little! No, Lawson Little is never content unless he can better par...in his golf...in his cigarette. "I want all the mildness I can get in my cigarette," he says. "Camels burn slower and give me extra mildness. And Camels also give me something else I never found before—flavor that doesn't tire my taste." Yes, Camels give all the qualities you want in a cigarette plus an extra measure of each. The extra flavor of costlier tobaccos preserved by slower burning. The natural mildness and coolness of costlier tobaccos plus freedom from the irritating qualities of too-fast burning. And on top of extra pleasure—extra value (see right).

● HOW does he do it? Form, timing, power, wrist action, control...he has them all—but Lawson Little has that extra measure of each which makes the difference between a good golfer and a champion golfer. Just as the extras in his favorite cigarette... Camel...make the difference between smoking and smoking pleasure at its best.

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel below.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

- EXTRA MILDNESS
- EXTRA COOLNESS
- EXTRA FLAVOR

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

HOW TO GET

A $100 LOAN

WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $6.97 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan—without red tape or delay—if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors. You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Thus you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Simple to borrow
You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds, no salary or wage assignment. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment
You may expect every consideration in case of sickness or unemployment while paying on a Household Finance loan. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you, phone or visit us for further information. No obligation.

TALLER CHILDREN

All my life I have had to submit to kidding about my height, for admittedly I am on the short side. Years ago, I learned to let the good humored jibes of others roll off my back, and likewise years ago I ceased to fret because I'm below the average in height.

However, a great many persons do stew and worry because they're called "Shorty," "Runt," "Sawed-off." There are girls who feel self-conscious about going out with men shorter than themselves, and there are men who employ built-up shoes and other devices to make themselves appear taller. The average height for American men today is five feet, seven and a half inches, which makes them a rather formidable race in comparison with most of the others. But I suspect that practically every man under six feet harbors a secret yen to be a six-footer. I know from experience that parents are usually anxious to have their children, particularly their sons, tall. I get many letters from fathers and mothers asking what they can do to insure this.

I don't see any particular advantage in tallness, but I can understand why many consider it desirable. Through the ages, tallness has come to be associated with great strength and physical prowess. A tall person is more noticeable in a crowd. He must be looked up to, literally speaking, by most persons, and he attracts a certain amount of psychological respect because of this. There is a popular belief that height is dependent entirely upon heredity. So many persons have an idea that if you come of a family that is on the short side, there isn't anything you can do about it except resign yourself to being short. Well, that isn't entirely the case, as they could see if they looked around a bit. Of course, heredity does play quite a part in determining height, but it is far, far from being the only element.

Environment plays a part, so does diet, exercise, climate, illness, rest habits—during the growth period of the life of the individual, all these are factors in speeding up or retarding growth. They also determine how long growth will continue. As this suggests parents can make their children taller.

I have noticed that the children of European immigrants to this country are nearly always taller than their parents. This is because in North America there is more space, more chance to get out into the sunshine, less pressure, better food and living conditions than abroad.

It has been shown that even the racially short-statured Japanese and Chinese, living under improved nutritive conditions in Hawaii and California, are taller and heavier than their immigrant parents.

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"I now present to you our next speaker, Mr. Jones."

Mr. Jones was not a happy looking individual.

He suffered from stage fright—an agonizing experience.

His knees shook, his hands trembled, he was in a cold sweat.

There was a strange feeling in the pit of his stomach.

His throat was dry, and worse, his mind was blank.

Many lecturers, public figures and actors have stage fright.

A well-known actress suffers nausea before every performance. There is an overactivity of the nervous system.

There is a fear of the unknown, a lack of self-confidence.

Confidence is built up by mastery of subject, and experience.

Personal appearance, posture and good voice help a lot.

Flower Show At New Wilmington On Wednesday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 9.—New Wilmington's fourth annual flower show, sponsored by the local Garden club, will be held in the Westminster college library from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m., Wednesday. Exhibitors from the New Wilmington district, as well as the county at large, are expected to contest their choice blooms and original flower arrangements at the show.

Classes, numbering 47, have been placed on the schedule of events by the Garden club committee, which are divided into two sections—specimen blooms and arrangements. Three sections totaling five classes have been planned for the children, and another section, which will probably attract much attention, is that open for competition of the clubs of New Wilmington and the Garden clubs of Lawrence county.

In addition to those competing for honors in the show, the New Wilmington scout troops will have an exhibit of wild flowers and plants.

Judges for the show have been selected by Mrs. Wilmont Leakey and Mrs. E. B. Russell, Garden club members, but will not be announced until the day of the show.

LIKES NEW CASTLE

Baltimore, Md.
September 4, 1940.

Dear New Castle News:
Although we came here from New Castle a year ago to make our home here, yet I want to write and tell you how much we enjoy reading The News. Next to going back to see old friends and the home town is the pleasure we get from the paper.

We appreciate the fact you don't have to see liquor advertisements on almost every page as we do the local papers. This is a very nice place to live, many historic places to see, excellent school system. But at that in New Castle, no Sunday movies, no liquors sold on Sabbath day, few if any people mowing lawns, building garages and working like it was a week day. So do we like the old town best? We surely do as it is hard to get used to seeing these things. Labor Day we drove over to west Baltimore to the National Cemetery. Were walking through the Civil War Veterans division and noticed on the bottom of one of the old markers the words, Mercer County, Pa. Well as that was near home we stopped to examine the writing corner, this is what it said:

G. B. Campbell

Co. G of C. The letter was badly worn.

Died in service of his country, November 18, 1862

Aged 20 years, 11 months, 18 days.

Son of J. and E. A. Campbell,

It might be of interest to some of his descendants to know where he is buried. This is a beautiful cemetery and well worth anyone's time to visit it. Well we want to send our regards to the "News," and all our old friends in New Castle.

Yours truly,

Indiantown Gap May Become U. S. Military Camp

State Site May Be Put In Use

Admirably Suited For Army Training Says Report From Authorities

COULD TRAIN 40,000 MEN AT RESERVATION

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—Pennsylvania may become a center of training for the United States army to which thousands of draftees may be sent from all corners of the country, it was disclosed today.

According to reliable sources received in military circles at the capital, the federal government is expected to take over the Indiantown Gap military reservation, 17 miles east of Harrisburg, to train civilians called up under the compulsory military training act.

Admirably Suited
This training camp of the Pennsylvania national guard is believed to be admirably suited for the army's purpose and able to accommodate as many as 40,000 men. Covering more than 16,000 acres, it is one of the largest military reservations in the country.

It is expected that large-scale barracks will be built upon the reservation by the federal government when the army is ready to take it over. Concrete foundations for the buildings in which the civilian soldiers would be quartered are now being laid by the Works Progress Administration.

Indiantown Gap military reservation has been under construction for about ten years. A five-year construction plan by the W. P. A. is now entering the last stages prior to completion. The project involves a million dollars of construction and when completed will leave the Pennsylvania military reservation completely equipped with permanent installations which will permit the training of two divisions.

Complete Training Site
The reservation is already regarded in army circles as one of the most complete training sites in the country. It is equipped for instruction in the use of all arms except aviation. Training grounds for tanks, artillery and small arms are located within the limits of the reservation.

The work comprising the final phase of the Indiantown Gap construction, which must be completed this year, covers grading, sewers, electric and water lines, roads, warehouses, sanitary facilities and the construction of an aviation field with a runway 100 feet wide and 4,000 feet long.

The aviation field will be capable of accommodating modern troop transport planes and provision is being made so that the runway can be enlarged to accommodate larger-sized transport planes should they be developed in the future.

The new construction work makes provision for the streamlining of the army divisions. Storage sheds and warehouses are being provided to care for mechanized units.

During the World war, military reservations at Gettysburg and Tobyhanna were used as tank camps.

Vitamin A Aids Night Driving

Lack Of Valuable Food Source Are Subject To Night Blindness

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Recent investigations by scientists for the U. S. Department of Agriculture have proved that insufficient Vitamin A in food renders drivers subject to night blindness and thereby increases the likelihood of their meeting with motor accidents.

This was disclosed by the Keystone Automobile club through an article written by William Ullman in the current issue of the club's magazine.

"Drivers and pedestrians who habitually live on a low Vitamin A diet do not readily regain normal vision after staring into the bright lights of approaching automobiles," Ullman said. Moreover low Vitamin A diets not only cause night blindness, but also narrow the field of vision. Even in daylight drivers on such diets do not have the proper side range of vision to prevent them from cutting into cars running by their sides or to enable them to see cross traffic approaching when near intersections."

The federal investigators pointed out that common sources of Vitamin A are yellow and leafy green vegetables, egg yolks, whole milk and orange and tomato juice.

American Legion Championship Is Won By Clovers

Glaser And Johnson Winning
Hurlers In Brilliant Season For Victors

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—The Clover Farms are the new American Legion Junior Baseball league champions for 1940. The Clovers, who had already won the first half title by taking eight games without a setback, pounded out a 13 to 6 win over the Elks on Saturday at Ewing Park to clinch the second half title. The triumph was the ninth in their ten second half games and put them beyond the reach of the second place Ellport Red Sox.

The winners bunched five blows and were aided by three errors, two walks and a pair of wild pitches to score ten runs and "put the game on ice" in the first frame.

Tammaro's circuit smash with two on base was the game's feature blow. Prestia with a triple and a pair of singles and Lenz with a brace of singles led the Clovers' attack. Shaffer was the only Elk batter to get two safeties.

The Clovers went through the season with only two hurlers. Glaser was credited with nine wins without a defeat and Ray Johnson who hurled a no-hit, no-run classic against the Manos early in the season, has eight wins against one defeat in his record. Merle Means, manager of the Clovers, deserves special praise for turning last year's cellar occupants into a championship team.

Caughy, of Wurttemberg, wore her grandmother McDowell's wedding gown, which was more than fifty years old and following the popular old tradition, the something new was a Juliet cap veil, one finger-tip length, and the other, knee length.

The gown was of off-white brocade satin, fashioned in the style of the eighties. She carried an arm cluster of white lilies and other white autumn flowers.

Before a simple but striking setting of pine trees in which attractive arrangements of yellow and salmon colored gladioli were interspersed with clusters of orchid dahlias, Miss Caughy and Gene Puert Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Rose, Cleveland Heights, O., said "I will" on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Wurttemberg United Presbyterian church.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was played by Miss Madeline Blackadore, of Pittsburgh, and High Timblin, of Wurttemberg, accompanied by Miss Irene Rottour, of Ellwood, sang three appropriate selections, "I Love You Truly," "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Lord's Prayer." Kenneth Greenberger, Cleveland Heights cousin of bridegroom, served as best man and ushers included Harold Reifer, Donora; Robert Craig Cleveland; Clark Wimer, Canton; and John M. Caughy, brother of the bride. To the strains of the favorite Lohengrin's wedding march, the bride and groom entered the church.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—From start to finish, the National Tube Foreman's club picnic held on Saturday afternoon at Edgewood grove, on the New Brighton road, was a pleasant success.

About 125 members attending the afternoon affair, interest being centered upon the tenth annual mushball game between the Gold Draw and the All-Stars, with the former blanking the All-Stars by a 13 to 0 count. The victory for the winners now evens up the series.

A fine sports program was featured and the awards went to Charles Mayne and Paul Jennings, egg throwing contest; George Horton and Bob Johnston, three-legged throw; Spurgeon Elder, dart ball; Norman Pack and Wayne Comerly, relay, and door prizes, Don Watson, Bill Latiano, Albert Emilko, George Horton and Jack Pearson.

Climaxing the day was a sumptuous steak and mushroom dinner served at five o'clock by Lew Young of this city.

Indoor meetings will begin during the latter part of October.

Christian Classes
Have Outing At Park

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Three classes of the First Christian church united for an enjoyable outing on Saturday afternoon and evening at Ewing Park grove.

The group included the Men's class and boys' classes taught by Max Nye and William Craven. A ball game was the main attraction and in the early evening a corn and wieners roast was enjoyed.

NIGHT BLOOMING
CEREUS AT BUQUO'S

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Attracting much attention from local and out-of-town residents is a night blooming cereus at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Buquo, of Line avenue.

There were three blooms on the plant both Saturday night and last night and there will be several more tonight.

Harvest Home
AT LILYVILLE

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—On Sunday afternoon the annual Harvest Home service was held at the St. Mark's Lutheran church of Lilyville with a good attendance of members.

The church was attractively decorated with fruits, vegetables and flowers which were taken to the Old People's Home, at Zelienople, by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Mitchell.

LEGION

Conclude Centennial At Mt. Hermon Church

Visitors, totaling upward of 1,500, were in attendance at the centennial celebration of Mt. Hermon Presbyterian church held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 6, 7 and 8. The church was filled to overflowing for the final service Sunday evening when over 400 turned out for the event.

Rev. J. Norman Hunter of Avalon, a former pastor, delivered the closing address on the subject, "The Pattern of Tomorrow." A number of ministers from this county were present for this service, as well as a large number of former members and friends. Appropriate selections were presented by the church choir and the service concluded with the congregation singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Greetings were heard from Rev. Homer K. Miller of Volant for Shenango Presbyterian and from the moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, Rev. William Lindsey Young of Parkville, Mo.

Saturday afternoon's program included greetings from former pastors and former members, while on Sunday afternoon, greetings were heard from neighboring churches and former members, also. A feature of the Sunday service was a visit from the moderator of the Pennsylvania Synod, Rev. W. W. McKinney of Ambridge, who spoke on "Presbyterianism." Following, an address was given by Rev. D. I. Schaeffer of Indiana, Pa., a former pastor, who spoke on "The Church and Democracy." The church pastor, Rev. C. S. Newsom, delivered the sermon at the regular church service held Sunday morning.

Highlighting Saturday afternoon's service was the reading of the history of Mt. Hermon church by J. A. Book. This service followed the dinner served at Willard Grange hall to a large crowd at noon. Preceding the reading of the history, a three-tiered white cake, topped with 100 candles, was carried in by Mrs. Helen Book, Mrs. Wilberta Houk, Miss Blanch Dean and Miss Mildred McElwain and placed on the pulpit until after the reading of the history when the candles were lighted. At the close of the program, it was cut and pieces distributed to over 200 people. Mr. Book, in the history, told of the organization of the church as a Reformed Presbyterian group in 1840 and how it transferred to the Presbyterian church in 1869. About that time the congregation built the Princeton church (in 1870) where they worshipped about four years, and also in the tabernacle built at Hermon. Later, they bought the Hermon church from the Reformed Presbyterian congregation and have been there ever since. The present church was built in 1903.

Old Pulpit on Display
Among the exhibits on display were the pulpit used in the old church which is about 75 years of age, a Bible of the same age, the early communion service which has not been used for 40 years, chairs and pedestals from the old church, old records and the property deed.

Mrs. J. A. Blair of Princeton was the oldest member in attendance. There were a number of persons present who have held continuous membership in the church for over 50 years.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers for the event, including a vase of flowers presented by Paul Butz and Mrs. John W. Norris, grandchildren of Rev. Josiah Hutchman, organizer and first pastor of the church 100 years ago, and two lovely baskets of dahlias from Harry Lathers of New Castle R. D. 6.

An added feature of the observance was the well kept cemetery. An endowment fund has now been established for the upkeep of the church cemetery.

Much credit is due the Mt. Hermon congregation and their pastor, Rev. C. S. Newsom, all of whom worked hard to make the centennial celebration one long to be remembered.

ESTIMATE 600 DEAD IN LATEST LONDON RAIDS

ment said that 306 persons were killed and 1,337 injured in Saturday's attacks.

"It is not anticipated that yesterday's figures will exceed those of Saturday," the announcement said.

An official communique dealing with last night's new attacks said: "Reports of the damage caused by attacks on London last night are not yet complete."

"The attacks were severe and continued throughout the hours of darkness."

"Bombing was widespread over the London area and for the most part was indiscriminate."

Two world-famous museums in the London area were among the targets struck by the Nazi bombers. In another part of Central London a bomb hit a tenement, causing a fire. It was feared that persons who took shelter in the basement were buried under the wreckage.

A bomb of heavy calibre demolished about 40 square yards of the center of the tenement block and smashed windows for many blocks around the neighborhood.

Underground Shelter Hit
Later it was disclosed that two explosive bombs fell on the roof of an underground shelter in a North London district, killing a number of persons although the exact casualty roll has not yet been ascertained. Rescue work is proceeding.

Many big business houses along one famous street in the center of London were wrecked by several high explosive and incendiary bombs. One missile scored a direct hit on a famous hall. Others flattened out three buildings while another dug a crater in the roadway ten feet deep and 20 feet across.

This bomb smashed a gas main which exploded, causing further havoc.

Street Almost Unrecognizable
The street, once a fine range of tall gray office buildings, is now almost unrecognizable.

(Editor's Note: Censorship forbids exact location of the street. Several thoroughfares in the heart of London would answer this general description. One such street is Kingsway, which juts out from the Strand at Aldwych. One of the buildings on this street is famous Kingsway Hall. The thoroughfare is one of the most modern in London's development and is flanked by tall gray office buildings. At the corner of Kingsway and the Strand stands Astra House, where the air ministry has its headquarters. Imperial Airways and other British air lines also are located in this huge building.)

At the morning progressed and rescue workers probed through the ruins a menacing hint that still more is in store for London streaked suddenly across the sky in the form of an airplane which passed over southwestern London at 8:20 a. m. at a tremendous speed and altitude. Anti-aircraft batteries roared at the plane, which headed toward the west. No warning was sounded.

London's 53th Raid
The long night raid—London's 53th of the war—began yesterday at 7:59 p. m. (2:59 p. m. EDT) and lasted until 5:36 a. m. (12:36 a. m. EDT) today.

There was no doubt that this raid was even more severe than the destructive attack unleashed by the German bombers on Saturday, but there was reason to believe that the casualties would not equal Saturday's estimated 400 killed and 1300 injured.

This morning thousands of sleep-deprived workers crept out of air-raid shelters and proceeded to business only to discover that railroad services were discontinued and bus services cancelled because of the raid. Many commuters began to walk to work while others waited in the hope that some form of transportation would be made available.

Shop Fronts Blown Out
In Central London many shop fronts were blown out, giving this famous quarter of the capital the appearance of something hit by a mighty tornado.

Far into the morning continued explosions of delayed action bombs kept the fire services hard at work, but all blazes were reported either extinguished or under control.

The air ministry issued a brief, quietly worded communique on the raid, announcing: "Enemy attacks on London were renewed last night soon after darkness. In this offensive the enemy employed successive relays of aircraft which, operating independently, dropped bombs on a widespread area of London."

"At no time during the night was an intensive attack delivered by a large force."

Defenses in Action
"Our anti-aircraft defenses have been in continuous action."

"More deliberate enemy attacks again were made on Thames-side districts, where a number of fires were caused."

"Elsewhere in several parts of London bombing attacks resulted in many fires and temporary disruption of public services as well as considerable damage to private houses and some public and mercantile buildings."

"A further statement will be made in due course."
Counting the toll of casualties, authorities said five young nurses are missing from a bomb-wrecked hospital in Central London where other persons were injured.

In a southwestern area of the city a number of persons were killed when a high explosive bomb score a direct hit on an air raid shelter.

Still another bomb in a northern sector of the city hurled an empty bus high into the sky. Its radiator landed in a second-floor window. The German planes carrying out the raid attacked in waves instead of the usual formations. In groups of two and three at a time they came over and dropped their bombs. Sometimes they would make a circular tour over the city, releasing only two or three bombs and keeping whole areas in suspense.

By the time the air-clear finally sounded watchers on roof-tops counted five huge fires in the London area silhouetting the roof-tops of the greater city. Huge billows of smoke curled against the sky as dawn appeared.

Monkey Is Captured Near West Pittsburg

Believed to have been a denizen of the nearby West Pittsburg swamp, a monkey, as wild as any that flits from limb to limb in a jungle, was captured yesterday afternoon and is now confined in a cage at the Pennsylvania Power company plant at West Pittsburg.

The monkey was discovered by Chief Engineer John E. Michaels when he inspected the screen-house, in the rear of the plant proper at 1 p. m. yesterday. At first he thought it was a cat but, when he noticed its long tail, he gave a whoop and employees of the plant ran toward the screen-house.

The monkey leaped from the first landing to the ground with a squad in pursuit. It climbed tall trees and swung, not only from limb to limb but leaped from tree to tree. Several hundred yards distant it leaped from a tree, 75 feet to the ground and, being stunned, was caught by A. Liberato, Frank Brakyovitch and Fabian Vukovich.

It apparently was famished. After being imprisoned in a cage it was given bananas, carrots, bread and other foodstuffs. However, it gambols excitedly about the cage whenever one approaches.

It probably escaped from a train on a nearby railroad and has been living in the West Pittsburg jungle and being hungry, made its way to the plant in the hope of purloining edibles.

Duquesne Looks For High-Powered Team

Coach Buff Donelli Is Elated At 1940 Prospects, Only Four Seniors

Dukes Face Tough Schedule Of Games This Fall, Open With Waynesburg

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Aldo T. "Buff" Donelli has only one major worry this year, namely, that his boys might get too hot and too confident to take their opposition seriously.

Otherwise, football prospects at little Duquesne university are the rosier and the brightest in the history of the school. Donelli has everything a coach could wish for—enough veterans to build two teams, a crop of brilliant sophomores, a driving ambition to make out better than last year, and the old "do or die" spirit of a small-time school clamoring for big-time recognition.

High-Powered
Duquesne university's 1940 aggregation will be a high-powered one, sparked by at least one potential all-American. The No. 1 goal is to make such a big splash in the national picture that post-season bowl selectors will be unable to pass them by as they did in 1939, despite the Dukes' near-perfect record of seven wins and one tie.

Even Donelli has been unable to suppress his exuberance, although he has tried to temper it with public utterances that his boys have a tough schedule and an equally tough future ahead. But here's the school's own succinct summation:

"The Dukes lost 10 lettersmen last June, eight of whom were looked upon as regulars. They will be missed. However, the 1939 team had 19 sophomores on a squad of 34 and 15 of them earned letters. Only four members of the 1940 squad will be seniors.

Plenty of Juniors
"Consequently the 1940 Dukes will be a junior aggregation with enough experience to keep them fairly steady under fire and with plenty of zip and dash and the desire to play make them dangerous for all their opponents. They may not equal the 1939 record, but their brand of football will match that of any team in the country."

As for the material, look what's on deck again: Allen Dorell, brother of the coach, who received several all-American honorable mentions last year; George Gonda, another triple threat man; Joseph Chaudoin, a clever ball carrier and a terror on pass defense; Alfred Delucia, a brilliant tackle; Tom Corbo, a standout guard; Albert Demao, who is expected to outshine even Mike Basrak. Duquesne's all-American center of 1939, Phil Alvarez, and Bernard Seneca, both grade-A backfield men; John Roby, flashy end, and John Binotti, another fullback who made good last year. Duquesne has so much potentially outstanding material, in fact, that it's a tough job picking out the real headliners.

Play Hard Schedule
As in the past, Donelli plans to use the two-team system, instead of a first string, second string and so on. One unit will start the first and third quarters, the second division the second and fourth quarters, with replacements and variations to be made as necessary. The Notre Dame system will again be employed.

The schedule: Sept. 27, Waynesburg at home; Oct. 11, South Carolina at home; Oct. 19, Mississippi at

Ellwoodian Grabs 1940 Tennis Title

Kicks Around Dope Bucket By Trimming Al Jones, 1939 Coronet Winner

Fred Daubenspeck, talented Ellwood City athlete, is Lawrence County's 1940 tennis singles king.

Daubenspeck kicked around the dope bucket by defeating slim Al Jones, 1939 champion, Saturday afternoon, in a lengthy five set match.

Daubenspeck took the lead by bagging the initial set, 6-3. Jones evened the count by taking the second skirmish, 3-6 but dropped the third set, 6-4. The 39 champion flashed plenty of form to nail the next set, 2-6. Daubenspeck emerged victorious with an impressive 6-3 count to win the coveted bauble.

In the doubles tourney, Fred and Laird Daubenspeck teamed their effort to eliminate Lou Gunton and Al Jones, 6-2, 5-7 and 6-4.

The double finals, listed for this afternoon, will be strictly Ellwood City with Daubenspecks battling Blaine and Jones.

Amateurs Start Quest For Title

Over 150 In Field Seeking To Upset Bud Ward 1939 Amateur Champion

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Playing on winged foot's famed west course, where Bobby Jones shot a 68 in the long ago, 150 golfers of various degrees of skill today started out after the national amateur championship. They are the survivors of sectional qualifying rounds all over the nation. Their admitted goal, other than the winning of the championship itself, was to stop Marvin (Bud) Ward, of Spokane, Wash., the defending champion and hottest par-cracker in the field at the moment.

If they can rid the premises of the quiet northwesterner anybody can win the tournament.

Ward Is Hot
He wound up his preparations yesterday by resolutely shooting a back nine 31 for a 68, four under par, by way of letting the rest know how he feels about the course, the tournament and his chances. No other entrant has approached that in practice and few are expected to do it in the tournament.

The course is reasonably tough, for one thing. Beyond that, rain fell last night and more was predicted today to make the going all the tougher as they played the first 18 holes of the 36 holes of qualifying which tomorrow will cut the field to 64 for match play thereafter.

Outstanding contender for Ward's title seemed to be Ray Billows, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., long a threat and currently on the top of his game after winning the New York state and the eastern amateur crowns. Willie Turnesa, of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., and Johnny Goodman of Omaha the 1937 title-holder also were regarded as possibilities.

ST. VITUS DEFEATS ST. JOSEPH
St. Vitus opened its 1940 football season by handing the fast St. Joseph a 6 to 0 defeat. The touchdown came in the second quarter, when D. Milione threw a long pass to J. Angelo. Eliseo and Marmo also played a good game for the winners, while Panella was the best for the losers.

When Pitt opens its football practice on September 10, Charley Bowser expects to have 60 players under his control. This would be a slight increase over 1939.

West Siders Top Pulaski; Cop Pennant

Sixth Warders Win 3-1 Decision Before 1,500 Spectators Yesterday

STEWART HURLS THREE HIT GEM

In record time of one hour and 15 minutes, the smooth functioning West Side A. C. sidetracked Pulaski, 3-1, Sunday afternoon on Lee avenue field, and thereby capped the National League gonfalon of the City-County Independent Baseball League.

With close to 1,500 persons on hand, the sixth warders played flawlessly. Eddie Stewart, on the mound for the West Siders, turned in one of the nearest performances of the campaign, a three hitter. Stewart stood out like a sore thumb.

Sam Sisley, at third, had a pair of lustrous triples and handled seven hard chances without a miscue. "Jay" Thomas Bechtel rapped two two base hits. Thomas' hit accounted for the first run.

For Pulaski, "Dick" Biddle and Vincent whacked doubles. Mitchell, Hutchison and D. Biddle were outstanding for the losers.

The Sixth Warders snatched the pennant by winning the first two of a three game series. The West Siders face the American League champions for the title.

Ross Leffler, president of the State Game commission, at Harrisburg announced hunters may refuse to give information about their firearms without hazarding loss of their licenses to hunt. New license application forms mailed to 650,000 hunters ask 29 questions of rifle owners and six shotgun owners. The information asked will be held confidential, according to a notation on the blank. The information is desired for the use of state officials in connection with national defense problems. It is likely that hunters will provide the information.

Hank Day has 27 lettersmen on his Farrell high school squad of 53. It is believed by some eastern grid critics that Cornell, undefeated and untied last season, will be the cream of the football milk this season.

Harry Bobo and Joe O'Garty, the former of Pittsburgh and the latter of New York are scheduled to fight 10 rounds tonight at Millvale. Dale Carson of the New Kensington Horseshoe club, 1936 state champion, threw 50 straight ringers for a perfect 150 game to qualify for the state tourney this year at Fayette.

Butler High is playing Zelenople at Butler under the lights tonight, the game having been moved ahead from last Friday night. Coach Heinzer will have a crackerjack team this year, it is reported.

New Castle is in need of a passer. Larry Roberts did the passing last Friday night and looked good in his few attempts, but a team needs more than one good passer.

The line showed up well last week, and with more experience will be all right. Bucchi looked good at end and Audino played a nice game at tackle. Morgan handled the center job like a seasoned veteran.

Robert Mills, ticket manager, today made the announcement that the Sporting Goods store at their 105 North Mercer street location will have reserved seat tickets for the game late this afternoon and during the rest of the week.

Butler expects to bring a big crowd here. They have asked for several hundred tickets. The crowd at the opening game last Friday was estimated by Mr. Mills at near the 7,500 mark.

Cleveland Indians, Yankees And Tigers Are Bunched Like Peas In Pod

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Conscription legislation, wars and other such mundane topics meant little today to avid baseball followers, especially Cleveland, Detroit and New York fans, as the triple-team American League pennant battle carried on into its most crucial week of the season.

The all-important question in these cities these days was, "How did the Indians, Tigers and Yankees do today?" For it is these teams that are staging a dog-eat-dog fight in the junior circuit and, with the surging third-place Yankees playing the roof-dwelling tribe and the second-place Bengals, in turn, this week something must give way.

Indians Win
At the moment the three teams were closer than peas in a pod. Cleveland held a one percentage edge over Detroit and an eight percentage digit, or one game, margin over New York. The Tribe, suffering from "pennant-itis" and internal trouble was scheduled to battle the pale hose in the only game on the junior circuit calendar today and then meet the Yanks in the opener of a final two-game series on Tuesday.

The pampered Papooses barely clung onto the lead by nosing out the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, in ten innings to end a six-game skidding streak. Bob Feller, upon whom the Indians pin their hopes for their first flag in a score of seasons, won his twenty-fourth victory after rescuing southpaw Al Milnar in the ninth inning. The aged Ted Lyons, who toils only on Sunday, was the loser.

An eighth-inning home run by Rudy York helped the Tigers chase out a 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns and pick up a percentage point on the leaders. Tommy Bridges pitched effective ball in relief to receive credit for the necessary victory.

Yanks Trip Sox
The Yankees virtually put an end to the Boston Red Sox pennant dreams by shellingacking them for the second consecutive afternoon, 9 to 4. Joe Gordon led the attack with his 25th homer, a triple, double and a single. The defeat dropped the Sox to five games behind Cleveland. Washington and Philadelphia halved a doubleheader, the Senators winning the first game 7 to 6 and the A's taking an abbreviated nightcap called in the fifth because of darkness, 4 to 0.

Activity in the National League speeded up a bit when Brooklyn sliced Cincinnati's lead to 6½ games. The Dodgers dropped the New York Giants twice, winning the opener, 7 to 2 and the nightcap 4 to 2 in eleven innings while the Chicago Cubs were holding the Reds, 3 to 1. Although Brooklyn's chances of catching the Rhinelanders were not particularly bright, the Durocher Dandies can find some solace in the fact they have beaten the hated Giants, eleven out of their last 12 meetings.

Pirates Win Two
The Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into third place in the senior circuit by plastering the St. Louis Cardinals in a twin-bill, 16 to 14, and 5 to 4 in a nightcap that was halted in the fifth because of darkness. Johnny Mize, leading home run hitter in the

FROM ME TO YOU

By MRS. KALL

We admire folks who want to help their city government... especially those who do it without compensation. School Board members come under this classification. The men and women who make up the Board do great things... they keep the school system running smoothly; they are the ones who control the power to sit on high school officials when they get out of hand... they purchase the needs for the schools... hire and fire the teachers; all in all, they have a tremendous job to do and they do it with great skill most of the time... once in a while they slip up... but what bothers us most is when a man on the School Board has to give his term up... and will do anything to keep that job... when this occurs we believe that something is a little wrong and an investigation should be made. And when a School Board member starts to dictate to sports for the getting of votes... then it's time something be said. We will say no more right now, but the above might give you something to think about... let's not lose sight of the fact that we live in a country of the people, by the people, and for the people.

We hope that the members of the police force have signed up somewhere so as to learn the principles of first aid... it makes no difference if they attend public classes or private classes... the part that matters is if they know their stuff. In private industry, if a man doesn't know his job all the way through, he soon finds himself without a job.

According to a report that we have just received... it is stated that one person dies every sixteen minutes as a result of a home injury... we will attempt to give you a few things to check in your home, so that accidents will have less chance to happen... you answer these questions: Are there handrails on all stairs? Are stairs properly lighted? Do you always place ashes in metal containers? Is your basement free of rubbish, old newspapers or other inflammable material? Do you make it a practice not to touch electric switches or fixtures when your hands are wet? Are all medicines placed in a cabinet out of reach of children and are all poisons properly marked? Do you use safety matches? Do you make it a practice to turn the handles of pots and pans on the stove out of reach of small children? Are cigars, cigarettes and matches completely extinguished and placed in non-inflammable containers? Is a screen placed in front of an open fire? Be sure to make things safe at home.

Pennsylvania Is Leading Producer Of Valuable Metal

Beryllium Is Mystery Metal, Which Hardens All Metals It Is Alloyed With

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—Pennsylvania leads the world in the production of beryllium, the properties of which are a chemical mystery, the planning board reports.

This metal, according to the survey, is far lighter than aluminum, and yet hardens practically every metal with which it is combined. It is extracted from the mineral beryl.

An examination of the metal disclosed that 18-karat gold, combined with this metal, is as hard and as wear resistant as tungsten steel.

Beryllium today sells from $23 to $35 a pound and has a number of remarkable properties. Springs of beryllium copper suffer no change or loss of elasticity after undergoing two billion vibrations under heavy pressure and sharp temperature changes.

The survey disclosed that the state's location and industrial advantages prompted the nation's largest beryllium producer to transfer its plant from the mid-west to Temple, near Reading, within the past decade.

Today that plant contains the only mill ever constructed for rolling and drawing the alloy of this metal whose properties make it important in the construction of tools, scales and materials for war.
